General Notes

1. Sources: The primary sources of information for births, marriages and deaths up to 2005 are the public record held at Hayes in Middlesex, supported by Census information between 1841 and 1911.
 - a. About the 1841 census
 - i. The 1841 census is the first modern UK census, when the first Registrar General of England and Wales was made responsible for organising the count.
 - ii. This is the earliest census that has survived in its entirety: only local fragments of the 1801, 1811, 1821 and 1831 censuses survived once the statistical information was collected.
 - iii. In the 1841 Census a policy of rounding down ages was in place.
 - As such people aged:
 - 15-19 were recorded as 15;
 - 20-24 were recorded as 20;
 - 25-29 were recorded as 25;
 - 30-34 were recorded as 30;
 - 35-39 were recorded as 35;
 - iv. 1841 was the first time that the head of each household was given a form to fill in on behalf of everyone in the dwelling on a set day. This system still forms the basis of the method used today.
 - v. The 1841 census was taken on the night of 6 June 1841 and gave the total population as 15,914,000.
 - b. About the 1851 census
 - i. The 1851 census was taken on 30 March and gave the total population as 17,922,768.
 - c. About the 1861 census
 - i. The 1861 census was taken on the night of 7 April 1861 and gave the total population as 20,066,000.
 - d. About the 1871 census
 - i. The 1871 census was taken on the night of 2 April 1871 and gave the total population as 22,723,000.
 - e. About the 1881 census
 - i. The 1881 census was taken on the night of 3 April 1881 and gave the total population as 25,974,000.
 - f. About the 1891 census
 - i. The 1891 census was taken on 5 April and gave the total population as 28,999,725.
 - g. About the 1901 census
 - i. The 1901 census was taken on 31 March and gave the total population as 32,527,843.
 - h. About the 1911 census
 - i. The 1911 census for England and Wales was taken on the night of Sunday 2 April, 1911. The count included all individual households, plus institutions such as prisons, workhouses, naval vessels and merchant vessels, and it also attempted to make an approximate count of the homeless.
2. Names: As is well known the spelling of the name in registers and on documents in earlier times was largely dependent upon the competence, whim or perhaps the hearing of the Parish Priest or Clerk concerned; the vagaries of local dialects and the idiosyncrasy of individuals will have added to the number of variant spellings. In any case exactitude in spelling was not highly valued or particularly sought after even in the 18th and early 19th century. The diaries of those who would be considered to be educated people yield a variety of spellings of what might now be considered to be common words, even on the same page. As a consequence, the spelling of names was variable until the surname was finally settled upon.
3. Dates: Where dates are recorded as a period, ie “Between Jan 1959 and Mar 1959”, or as a month and year, they relate to the Date of Registration as recorded in the Public Records. This can lead to apparently significant discrepancies, for instance if a child is born on Friday 31 March, but not registered until Monday 3 April, the records would show the 2nd Quarter, in some cases this could even affect the year. This applies to the Register only, the Birth Certificate would show the correct date.
4. Places: As for dates, and unless known from a reliable source, such as a witness, birth, marriage or death certificate, the places listed are taken from the relevant Public Records, as such they record the Registration District rather than necessarily the actual place.

3. FAMILY TREES

Each family tree shows the reported children, parents, grandparents and great-grandparents of a family group. In order to reduce redundancy, any family group which is wholly included within another family tree may not be reported separately.

Above each of the great-grandparent boxes (top row), a continuation family tree reference number is shown if the great-grandparent is recorded as a child in the continuation tree. A continuation reference number is also shown to the left of a grandparent or parent box if that individual has siblings reported in the continuation tree; and beneath a child box (bottom row) if that individual has children reported in the continuation tree.

In cases of multiple marriages, a continuation reference number preceded by "=" is shown to the right of a parent box. This number references the previous and/or next tree in which that individual is shown with another partner.

In cases of adopted (or fostered) children, the parental connection is shown with a dashed line and a continuation reference number preceded by "=" is shown within the individual's box. This number references the tree in which that individual is shown with his or her natural parents.
